What is PMAD?
Perinatal Mood and Anxiety Disorders (PMAD) are the most common complication of childbirth, affecting 15-20% of pregnant women and moms with young children. PMAD includes depression, anxiety, post-traumatic stress, bipolar disorder, obsessive compulsive disorder and psychosis occurring during pregnancy until three years after a baby is born.

Untreated, a PMAD can lead to serious complications in mother, baby and family. Consequences include disruption in mother-baby bonding, interruption in the infant’s development, family and relationship conflicts, and in serious cases, can lead to suicide or infanticide.

PMAD Signs & Symptoms
- Anxiety
- Excessive worry, nervousness
- Sadness, depression
- Difficulty concentrating
- Scary thoughts
- Guilt
- Hopelessness
- Sleep problems
- Fatigue
- Loss of interest in normal activities
- Change in appetite
- Irritability

What Patients Have to Say
The Mother and Baby Program has provided hope and healing to hundreds of women since it opened in December 2012. Here’s what a few had to say:

“Thank you so much Mother and Baby Program. You all have been so kind and understanding. When I came here, I felt so alone and helpless, but now I feel hopeful and know that I will get better.”

“This program saved my life!! Thank you for this program and your incredible care!”

“I came very pessimistic and afraid that I would just feel worse and even more confused. I have learned so much from everyone and feel so grateful.”

“I am in love with my new baby.”

“Keep doing what you are doing. You are touching so many lives during difficult times.”

“Thank you for giving me hope and confidence that I will get better.”

“Coming to this program has saved my life.”

“Your program has given me the tools I need to help me move forward in a healthy, positive way.”

“Thank you for giving my life back. I had such scary thoughts and now I love being with my baby.”

Mother and Baby Program

One of only a few in the country, the Pine Rest Mother and Baby Partial Program is a short-term, intensive day program for women experiencing significant symptoms of postpartum depression and other perinatal mood and anxiety disorders (PMAD) to receive treatment in a setting which includes a nursery for their infants up to nine months of age. Not only does this approach enhance mother/baby bonding, it eliminates many obstacles to attending daily treatment such as separation from the baby, childcare arrangements and feeding issues.

The program is for women who are pregnant or up to three years postpartum and meet criteria for admission.

Services
The program operates Monday through Friday from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Women attend daily and may enter the program any day of the week.

Services are provided by a multi-disciplinary treatment team specifically trained in perinatal mood and anxiety disorders. The program includes meetings with a psychiatrist upon admission and at scheduled times before or after the program day. Patients also meet individually with an advanced level practitioner for medication reviews, if needed, and a case manager. These professionals will work together with the patient and the rest of the multidisciplinary team to establish treatment goals, strategies and a comprehensive aftercare plan.

Group Sessions
Daily group education and therapy sessions are led by a licensed clinician to help women learn the skills to cope with stress, anxiety and disturbing thoughts that may occur when caring for their children. Mothers are welcome to bring their babies to group sessions if they desire.

Group topics include:
- Cognitive Behavioral Therapy
- Communication
- Dialectical Behavior Therapy
- Emotional Management
- Medication Education
- Mother-Baby Bonding & Infant Massage
- Nutrition for Mom and Baby
- Relaxation
- Self-care
- Stress Management

Benefits
The Mother and Baby Program provides a number of benefits, including:
- Quick access to care and prevention of hospitalization
- Improved depression, mood disorder and anxiety symptoms
- Supportive peer-to-peer environment by spending time with other women
- Recommendations from PMAD specialists for treatment options which take into consideration pregnancy and lactation
- Skill-building to help mothers bond with their children and manage challenging symptoms
- Follow-up with support groups after program completion is encouraged
- Reduction of the long term effects of the illness on mother and children
